

THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF WARSAW INVITES

THE LONG NIGHT OF MUSEUMS

— 13.05.2023 —

Warszawa

kultura.um.warszawa.pl/nocmuzeow

Dear All,

this Night is unlike others. And it is growing richer year by year. In this – already 19th – edition of the Long Night of Museums in Warsaw, a record number of 272 institutions will take part.

The Long Night of Museums is a great celebration for contemporary explorers. You may contemplate culture and art together. You may also participate in events organised by the City. The detailed programme may be found in the catalogue, so let me mention here only the opportunity to see Warsaw by night from the viewing terrace of the Palace of Culture and Science and an interactive installation in Defilad Square. The Night offers a wide range of events, so we will make sure – like every year – to provide bus transport connecting various attractions. There will be additional night routes operating as well as dedicated museum routes.

I also invite you to visit my office in the City Hall – the place where, especially recently, “history happens”. It is said that there are a thousand books on the shelves there – maybe one of you will count precisely?

I would like to extend a special welcome to 41 places joining the group of institutions participating in the event for the first time. Among them: Warsaw’s Museum of Computers and Video Games, Apple Museum Poland, Cecylia Plater-Zyberk Private School Complex, Służew Funeral Home, and Warsaw Municipal Water and Sewage Enterprise. The latter will allow visitors to take a look at a hundred-year-old storm overflow chamber to which the public generally has no access. I am mentioning these places not only to encourage you to visit them, but to show just how radically the meaning of the word “museum” has changed in contemporary times.

Let us take advantage of the Long Night of Museums – to discover “museology” anew.

Nighttime tours of the Palace and a historic panorama of 18th-century Warsaw

INSIDE

The organiser invites you for nighttime tours of the Palace in Mała Wieś, in Bielsk Duży municipality, only 45 minutes from the centre of Warsaw. In the historic palace dating back to 1786, tour guides will present the extraordinary history of this place, closely connected with the history of Warsaw. The founder of the Palace, Bazyli Walicki, commissioned the painting of Warsaw's panorama on the walls of the dining room visited by king Stanisław Poniatowski. His great-grandson, Zdzisław Lubomirski, was the Mayor of Warsaw during WWI.

Reflektor are a duo co-founded by guitarist and music maker Łukasz Wierchośławski and vocalist and lyricist Mateusz Michalski. It is a debut project which introduces a breath of fresh air into Polish alternative music scene. The music layer is dominated by electronics and synthwave sounds characteristic of the 80s and the 90s, accompanied by live guitars and traces of pop-rock. Reflektor's creative output results from the blending of two sensitivities and is the resultant of inspirations drawn both from the artists' own experiences and their insightful observation of reality.

About us (O nas) – exhibition of paintings by Marta Czok

INSIDE

Presentation of paintings by Marta Czok, a British painter of Polish origin, based in Italy. The exhibition will showcase 28 paintings created between 2004 and 2020, presenting a broad array of topics dressed in satire and playful irony, so ubiquitous in the painter's works. The technique is important here too, as satire rarely takes the form of a painting on canvas. Interestingly, in Marta Czok's works, it is additionally enriched with perfect drawings and commentaries – sometimes providing a layer of riddles or word puzzles, encouraging viewers to engage with art and to try and find the proper way to interpret the work.

INSIDE

Already for the second time, the Nazareth Primary and High School in Warsaw opens its gates for visitors. Overgrown with wild vine, the pre-war walls hide numerous secrets, which will be talked about by the School staff on this extraordinary night – the Long Night of Museums. The seat of the Nazareth School, since WWII known as the Czerniakowska Stronghold, was one of few buildings in the neighbourhood to survive the Warsaw Uprising. Even though nowadays the old walls are filled with joyful school buzz, and the corridors and rooms are full of modern equipment, the extraordinary history of this place – as well as the city itself – is still alive and worth knowing.

The springtime exhibition at Milano Gallery will feature images by the Cracovian painter created within the last year. Their character differs slightly from her previous works. The author paints faster, edges away from the themes of home and its surroundings, leaves familiar areas, and sets off on a trek. This new, open space gives hope and the sense of freedom. The artist portrays trees, surveys mountains. Concentrated on what surrounds her, she does not notice how quickly the sun sets behind her back.

INSIDE

OUTSIDE

We invite you to visit the office of Ryszard Ochódzki, Chairman of the Rainbow (Tęcza) Sports Club, known from Stanisław Bareja’s cult film titled Teddy Bear (Miś). The famous closet you saw in the film is still there. It was here, in this place, that second-class coach Wacław Jarząbek sang the unforgettable “Hey-ho...”. Come and see how much has changed at the stadium on Podskarbińska St. Throw a discus and a javelin made in the Soviet Union, and learn about the history of this building. It is an extraordinary chance to see how this unique place, so strongly connected with the history of Polish filmmaking, has been successfully preserved on the map of Praga-Południe District.

Cathedrals in Robert Znajomski's drawings

INSIDE

On the Polish lands, since prehistoric times, wood has been the main construction material. It was used to build huts, manor houses, chapels, churches. Compared to stone, wood is a brittle raw material, less weather-resistant. This fact is reflected in drawings by Robert Znajomski (b. in Hrubieszów, alumnus of the Maria Curie-Skłodowska University in Lublin). Domes, as if taken from an Eastern Orthodox church or a Gothic cathedral, not always matching. One may be tempted to assume that these ambiguously drawn constructions symbolise people and their jumbled fortunes on the borderlands of cultures.

At night, sculptors sculpt differently. Performance artists change their performances. Musicians fly away to different spaces. Suggestively, subtly, surrealistically, sensorially, subjectively. And the night gets longer and stretches (chewing gum). At K and K Art Gallery, the exhibition Different Views at Night (Nocą odmienne spojrzenia) will present the creative output of the Kubicki clan: sculptures by Zofia and Jan Kubicki – seniors of the house, along with performative actions by Zofia Helena Kubicka – a young generation artist, photographer, creator of short films. INSIDE

On this extraordinary night, the Praga Museum of Warsaw invites you to visit its new temporary exhibition, Train to Praga (Kolej na Pragę), and take part in a musical evening with railway themes (in the Museum's courtyard). In the second half of the 19th century, railway played a key role in the development of right-bank Warsaw and neighbouring areas. The launch of long-distance railway turned Warsaw's Praga District into an important railway junction. Cheaper imports and exports of goods attracted industry. Newly-created narrow-gauge railways: Marki Commuter Railway and Jabłonna – Karczew Commuter Railway, brought new Varsovians and bricks for Praga houses, and made it easier for people to get to suburban summer resorts.

“The way I perceive it, the role of an artist is to be a witness of their contemporary times and at the same time a sensitive observer of themselves. By bearing witness to reality, in my works, I process all that happens around me and what – in a sense – is me. My art is a continual recycling process – of the reality and of myself. Drawing inspiration from the outside, referring to signs of mass culture, I absorb them to meet the needs of my own individual language, at the same time retaining the possibility of communicating with other people immersed in the same reality continuum in which I am immersed. It enables me to view and present from a distance what is the most difficult in me and around me.”

Travels in time with St. Kazimierz

ONLINE

INSIDE

Everyone knows how a church looks like: a large space covered with a dome, plus a tower where a bell has been hung. Not everybody knows, however, that it is also a vehicle for travelling in time, an enciphered narrative from centuries ago, an Ark filled with ancient tales of sacred numbers and proportions, of primeval battle of the good and the evil, day with night... St. Kazimierz Roman Catholic Church in Pruszków invites you to unveil these mysteries together during the Long Night of Museums in the historic church. Because the space of a temple is never mute. It was created to speak, to be a Story. Getting to know its language seems extremely interesting... There will be workshops for children organised.

INSIDE

101 Projekt Gallery invites you to an exhibition of works by Zofia Błażko, titled Realism in Abstraction (Realizm w abstrakcji). The painter's creative output revolves invariably around the portrait, but the newest creations show the Artist stepping out of the frames characteristic of her style, showing a totally different, abstract face of her art – not only in her paintings but also in her less-known spatial projects. Zofia Błażko graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in Gdańsk. She has participated in numerous individual and joint exhibitions as well as art residencies abroad (e.g., in France, Senegal, and China).

The State Archive in Warsaw invites you! On the Long Night of Museums, while keeping an eye out for the Basilisk, and looking for tracks of the Mermaid, you will come across treasures of the State Archive in Warsaw. These are not only richly bound old books, historic blueprints, and historically important documents. Information about residents of the capital city and valuable materials from Donors are treasures as well, guarded at the Archive. We invite you to visit our premises. Of course, we provide professional protection against the Basilisk, who will surely appear on Krzywe Koło more than once during the Long Night of Museums....

Humour and satire – exhibition of sculptures by Piotr Gawron and Polish Poster School

INSIDE

Artessia Auction House will present an exhibition of works by Professor Piotr Gawron. Small-scale bronze sculptures and larger figurative compositions in wood. The artist portrayed the human being in an ironic way, at times downright caricatural, but invariably with a dose of humour, understanding, even affection. His sculptures have a universal dimension and provoke self-reflection. The sculptures are accompanied by an exhibition of works by creators from the Polish Poster School – projects made for cult films from the 20th century. Diverse styles, simple forms, expressive imagery, humour, and irony.

Among the authors, e.g.: Barbara Barańska, Wiktor Górka, Andrzej Krajewski, Jan Młodożeniec, Andrzej Pągowski, Franciszek Starowieyski, Waldemar Świerzy.

The photo installation by Witek Orski is a contemporary reinterpretation of the famous print “Melencolia I” by Albrecht Dürer (1514). The artist, referring directly to the iconic representation of the notion of melancholy, “breaks” Dürer’s print into pieces, and interprets its selected, symbolism-laden fragments, preserving them in radically contemporary compositions captured through the medium of photography. Witek Orski (b. 1985) is a photographer, alumnus of the Faculty of Philosophy at the University of Warsaw. He obtained his PhD degree at the Magdalena Abakanowicz University of the Arts in Poznań. Currently, he is a lecturer at the Łódź Film School.

And Rivers Will Flow with Date Syrup – exhibition of paintings by Ania Grzymała (Entry Initiative Prize).
Curator: Michalina Sablik

In her newest painting series, Ania Grzymała, alumna of the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw, starts with fairy-tales and stories for children, which generally end with an enigmatic “And they lived happily ever after”. The artist wonders what it means, and how such land of happiness could look like. However, she does not place her utopia on a faraway island or in a fantastic land. She locates it in a clearly defined “here” of the Polish reality, among apartment buildings in Ursynów District.

Zuzanna Hertzberg. Female Warriors (Bojowniczk) – at Studio Gallery

INSIDE

Individual exhibition of works by Zuzanna Hertzberg (interdisciplinary artist, activist, researcher). It is a visual story about Jewish activism of the 20th century and the building of a new, affective archive based on experiences of women. What methods did they use? How did they react to oppression? And how can we use this knowledge nowadays, in the battles we fight? The exhibition at Studio Gallery will feature works on fabrics, collages, and paintings. The showcase will be accompanied by recurring spoken word performances – herstories retrieved by the artist from scraps, transplanted into the present time.

Curators: Natalia Andrzejewska and Dorota Jarecka.

Directions (Kierunki) – exhibition of works by alumnae of Prof. Dorota Grynczel's Artistic Fabric Atelier at the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw. Prof. Dorota Grynczel became the inspiration for the creation of the exhibition. She is a mentor in the field of fabric and a fascinating artistic personality, an insightful pedagogue and a modest, emphatic, strong woman with a beautiful soul. Twelve female artists, living and working in various places in the world, wish to present the power of fabric as an artistic trend, in and of itself worthy of attention, appreciation, popularisation, and understanding. They believe it deserves to be rooted stronger in the collective consciousness. Through the richness of topics and fabric-inspired technology, they will present its versatility and diverse range. There will be a Polish Sign Language interpreter present at the meeting with artists (6:00 pm – 8:00 pm).

What interesting can there be in Targówek Fabryczny? Prehistoric settlements, tsarist fortifications (how does one find them if they ceased to exist more than a century ago?), old-time industry, and metro tunnels from 70 years ago. Fighting took place here in 1939 and in the Uprising; many years later, the area was depopulated – according to plan – and the infrastructure demolished. We will visit the unique Church of the Resurrection of Christ, a 19th-century working-class estate and the mansion of the owner of the first Polish chemical plant. We will reminisce about Balcerek from 4 Alternative St. (Alternatywy 4) TV series; we will look at old photographs. This place surprises... We will take a walk – comfortable shoes and a flashlight will be very useful.

From February to October 1945, the tenement house located in Warsaw at 2 Świerszcza St. was the seat of the Main Directorate of Information of the Polish Army (Główny Zarząd Informacji Wojska Polskiego). In its basements, prison cells were set up, while interrogation rooms and offices occupied the upper levels. According to historians from the Institute of National Remembrance, over the period of the prison's functioning, more than a thousand women and men have gone through the building, some of them soldiers of the Home Army. The past is confirmed in inscriptions scraped on the brick walls, tally marks calendars, and doors with characteristic spyholes cut out, preserved until today.

OUTSIDE

The exhibition Set Stills. Wajda. Renata Pajchel (Werki. Wajda. Renata Pajchel) was created as an homage to two outstanding artists who tied their professional lives together: Andrzej Wajda and Renata Pajchel.

“In Polish film photography, the predominant opinion is that the history of the profession of a unit still photographer and author of set stills is divided into two chapters: before Renata Pajchel and after her. Before her, the profession was considered subsidiary, and still photographers were generally not valued” – this is how the influence of the photographer on the film industry is described by her friend, a Polish-American film producer, scriptwriter, and director, Andrzej Krakowski.

Exhibition Word and Image (Słowo i obraz)

Students at the W. Gerson State Art High School in Warsaw, J. Mierzwiak's Drawing and Painting Atelier, have taken it upon themselves to create graphic interpretations of the winning texts from the Jan Parandowski National Olympic-Games-themed Short Story Writing Competition. In the result of the project (ongoing since November 2022), works presenting the colour, shape, and perspective of young literature have been created. The relation between the word and the image is surprising, interesting, and illustrates unobvious connections between various phenomena in the world of sports.

Around the Warsaw Citadel – walk

INSIDE

OUTSIDE

The Warsaw Citadel was built between 1832 and 1834 by order of tsar Nicolas I, after the defeat of the November Uprising. It is an important testament to the fighting and suffering of the Polish nation in the times of partitions. During the walk, participants will get to know its history and secrets. They will also visit the Sokolnicki Fort in Stefan Żeromski Park, for a tour of the underground and to see a mock-up of Warsaw designed by children and youth from the Art Studio of Ms. Barbara Szydelska's Child and Art Foundation (Fundacja Dziecko i Sztuka).

Living Museum of Slow Life

OUTSIDE

If you are tired of crowds in museums and galleries, spend a neighbourly Slow Life evening with us!

At 6:00 pm, we invite you for a Living Museum – picnic on the grass, giving you a chance to get to know your neighbours! Children and animals welcome. Bring something you like to eat and an object which is important to you – one that will help you describe yourself and introduce yourself to neighbours. It may also be something that hides an interesting story or a family legend. At 8:00 pm, a yoga lesson on the grass starts, taught by an instructor from Yoga Żoliborz (Joga Żoliborz), against the backdrop of the setting sun.
